

Kindly Kind

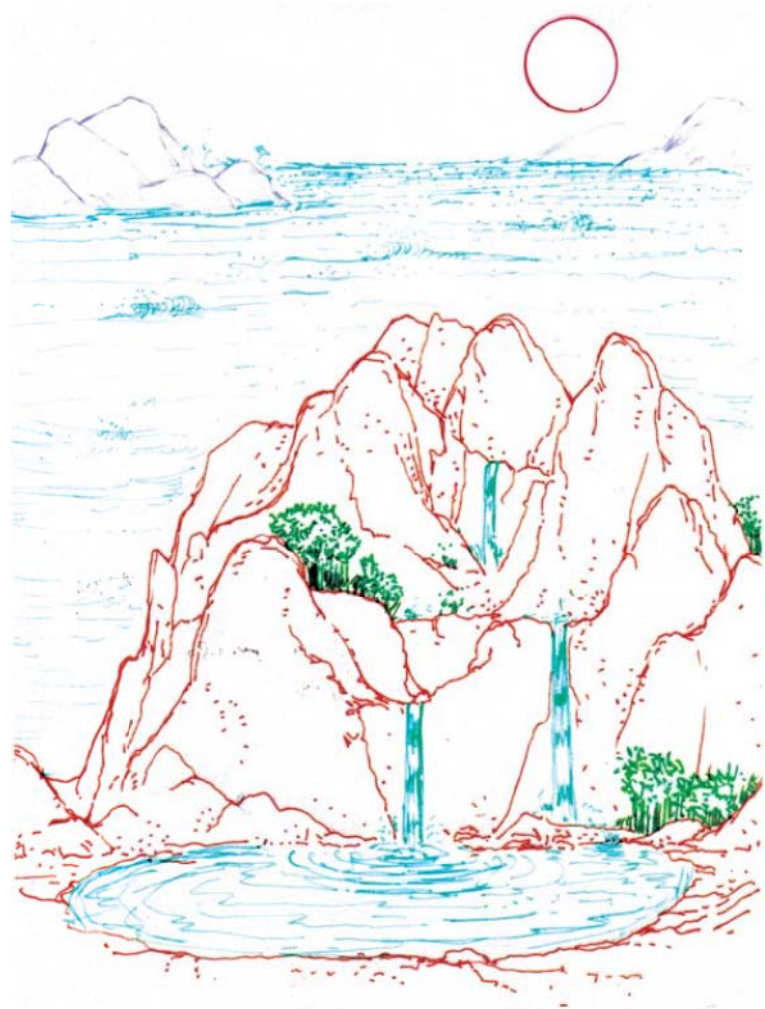

Kindness ceases to exist
Beyond what the Kind can do.
Kindness is never in denial about
What the Kind has already defined.

Kindness is Beauty that emanates
From Honest Loving, Benevolent
Caring and Ready Acceptance that is
Willingly Given without Reservation.

Kindness is given by Inactive Acting
With Mutual Preparation, Balanced
Respect and Selfless Responsibility
Applied to the Harmony of Non-Action.

Kindness expects nothing in return,
Loses nothing but gains everything.
Kindness has no Judgment with its Connection Within or Without.

Kindness benefits all and does no harm
Existing and giving to others for its Own Self-Perpetuation finding its Ends
And Beginning in the Tao and its Way.

Commentary:

The kind never exceed beyond kindness, for they defined kindness. Kindness is beauty that emanates from honest loving, benevolent caring, and ready acceptance that is willingly given without reservation. Kindness is given by inactive acting with mutual preparation, balanced respect, and selfless responsibility applied to the harmony of non-action. Kindness expects nothing in return, loses nothing, and gains everything. Kindness has no judgment with its connection within or without. Kindness self perpetuates by existing and giving to others, benefitting all without any harm, and finding its ends and beginning in the Tao.
